

THREE ARE INJURED WHEN AUTOS CRASH; 2 GIRLS IN CAR FLEE

Accident Occurs in Gloucester After Dance—Men Are Held for Hearing

Three persons were injured early today in an automobile collision on Hudson street and Broadway, Gloucester. The injured are: Frank Hart, nineteen years old, of 1827 Fillmore street, Camden, internal injuries. George Schaub, of Ellensburg, N. J., cuts and bruises. Herbert Collins, of Haddonfield, N. J., cuts and bruises. Hart, with Ellsworth Pettit, Joseph Downer, William Laute, all of Camden, and two Gloucester girls were going north on Broadway, and Schaub and Collins were driving east on Hudson street when the accident occurred. The impact of the two machines hurled Hart to the ground, and Schaub and Collins were thrown through the wind shield. In the excitement the girls left the machine. Hart said he had met them coming from a dance and did not know their names. The injured were cared for at the City Hall by Dr. George Adams. The men will be arraigned for a hearing tonight before Mayor Anderson, of Gloucester.

Delightful and Distinguished Dresses of the Better Type Are Here for Monday, Marked at Special Prices

Many of these dresses are samples from the best makers in America, and not a few are copies of the dresses that fashionable Paris is wearing at the moment. These samples are marked at $5 to $20 less than the dresses regularly sell for, and the improbability of many duplicates is a point many women like.

At $25

Fifty handsome sample dresses of white Shantung heavily embroidered in white or colored silk; brown and navy blue chiffon taffeta dresses embroidered with silk or trimmed with narrow pleated frills; lovely embroidered Georgette crepe dresses. You will notice the fineness of the batiste collars, which are often hand-embroidered, and the general excellence of the materials used.

At $20

Dresses of organdie and voile of fine quality trimmed with wee ruffles, bands of satin ribbon or with beading, the latter a new feature of cotton frocks. In pink, blue, white, Nile and orchid.

At $16.50

Here are some of the prettiest organdie dresses we have ever had. The material in the overskirt and sleeves is printed with little pink bouquets and blue bow knots arranged in widely separated stripes, while the rest of the dress is white. At the girde—last delightful touch—a nosegay of field flowers. Another pretty model at this price is a chemise dress of rose, light blue or lavender voile with a corded white check and a fine white pin-tucked collar.

Many New Beaded Dresses of Georgette Crepe

are here in white, flesh, French blue and navy. They are made over silk foundations and have deep folds on the skirts. $23.50, $25, $29.50, $35, $37.50 and upward. (Market)

Less Expensive Frocks

Voile dresses in endless pretty patterns and Summer colorings are here at $5, $6, $7.50, $8.50, $10 to $15. A pretty flowered dress at $6.50 is sketched. Many are in navy blue or black grounds with coin dots at $8.50 and Georgette patterns at $12 to $13.50. Ring dot voiles with broad satin sashes are $15. Blue and pink organdie dresses have embroidered white organdie collars, cuffs and pockets edged with a frill of net. $10.50. Linene dresses in all-white or Copenhagen blue are made in a simple and practical style with contrasting braiding for trimming. $6. (Market)

Summer Thoughts
